THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 27. The Elections in East Virginia.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times gives a favorable | 8 account of the Republican prospect for the coming campaign. The Constitution will be ratified by a large majority plants his vines he sets in a secluded and the separate clauses defeated, though the Democrats are making strenuous efforts to secure a majority. A prominent gentleman from New York, who returned from Virginia tonight, reports the political campaign in that State as assuming a yery warm and active shape. Governor Wells and and the separate clauses defeated, night, reports the political campaign in themselves from the bugs. It that State as assuming a very warm and active shape. Governor Wells and ex-District-Attorney Chandler leave and it at the same time pre-Richmond this A. M. to canvass the Richmond this A, M, to canvass the western portion of the State, Mr. Walker, the Conservative candidate for Governor, is already on the stump, speaking in the southwest. The Republicans complain that their opponents are carrying on the campaign under false pretences, by claiming that Walker is a Republican, when the fact is that he was always a Democrat at the North and never pretended to be anything else until he came to Virginia. They also point to his recent speeches to show how he exhibits his contempt for Northern people or carpetbaggers, he himself having been in the State not so long by several years as Governor Wells. Both parties are confident. It is concelled that the Constitution will be ratified by a large majority and that the separate clauses will be defeated. The Conservative Party say that the reopening of the registration will add thousands of white votes be defeated. The Conservative Party say that the reopening of the registration will add thousands of white votes to the lists; that they will get many negroe votes as well as white votes; and that the negro vote has been largely decreased by the emigration of that class, both South and North. They also claim that the Conservative Party reoresents the true business and commercial policy of Virginia, and base their hopes of success on these reasons. The Wells party, or regular Republicans, as they call themselves, claim that Walker will get few or no negro votes. their hopes of success on these reasons. The Wells party, or regular Republicans, as they call themselves, claim that Walker will get few or no negro votes; that the label "Conservative Republican" will not deceive them; that Wells will get a large white vote, and that a very large portion of the extreme rabid secession element, who refuse to countenance suffrage under any circum-

Although there is no prospect that question nevertheless engages the attention of the President and Cabinet more than any other foreign topic. In fact it is almost the only subject conpotatoes from an old Pennsylvania calls for consideration. One of the difficult points about the whole matter in dealing with it diplomatically, is that our own Supreme Court recognized the balligerency of the South seventeen days before the Queen's proclamation was issued, and, so far at least as Spain is concerned, we are on record in our diplomatic correspondence as thanking that country for nest having given more substantial aid and countenance to the rebellion. It may tend to quiet the fears of nervous people to be told on the very best authority that the administration has not the slightest intention of resorting to immediate hostlities, and will not adopt a belligerent attitude without the gravest provocation. The President and his Cabinet are entirely in accord on the point that a force. nected with our foreign affairs which plant sweet pointoes, pounded down that it is made the hostlities, and will not adopt a beligerent attitude without the gravest provocation. The President and his Cabinet are entirely in accord on the point that a foreign war would be extremely disastrous at the present time. Although we are not by any means so enfeebled as to shrink from a contest if forced upon us, still every effort will be used to steer clear of foreign complications until our great it debtedness has become more transgeable and until the way toward specie payments has been cleared. It is stated on the authority of one of the Secretaries that the Executive is now extremely anxious in reference to the point made by Mr. Sammer in his great has to what constitutes a blockade. But Mr. Sumner's argument as a whole is not by any means the reflex of the views of the President and Cabinet.

Plant sweet potatoes, pounded down in lard; he had then placed his hills, in the top of which he set the plants.

In the fall he found that the tubers did not penetrate the hardened ground and were of very fine quality. In another portion of his field Mr. Thompson that down a board, and with this as a foundation built up his hills. The potatoes instead of growing thick as before, when they reached the board turned at a right angle and extended horizontally for a long distance, none of the Secretaries that the Experimental points are great mistake. Mr. Thompson that deep cultivation for sweet potatoes is a great mistake. Mr. Thompson thinks that the potatoes are much better when grown in hills that in rows, and he advises pulling down the hills with a hoe or fork, just when the vines begin to run or building of new ones, as the earth of the new hills is not so likely to bake.

The advance in the premium is simply a return towards the natural price of goid. This rise of course pu's up the cost of foreign productions, which are paid for in gold; but it thus employs a part of the surplus currency which has been sustaining other markets at specularity and inflated values and so leads.

As announced last week, Mr. R. H.

But that is not likely to take place, except in consequence of a toreign war or of a great revulsion in trade. If neither of these events should take place, gold might rise to a point at which the price would represent the real inflation of the currency, without making living more costly; and Mr. Wells has conclusively shown that inflation to be fully eighty-eight percent.—a point far beyond any which has been approached by the premium on gold since the war.

A color of the properties and distributed to the people. To show the need of such institutions, Mr. Williams cited some of the questions that had been before the Farmers' Club.

Horace Greeley about a year ago, introduced the subject of deep plowing and gave it as his oplinion that to get the full benefit of the land, the ground ought to be stirred to the depth of sixteen or eighteen inches.

Mr. Quinn was of the oplinion that deep plowing was of no use unless the quantity of many he increased

A gentleman in the back part of the house gentleman in the back part of the house rose to go out. Miss Dickinson ordered him to stop. Of course all eyes were directed towards her victim, who, in the most gentlemanly manner, replied that a lady was sick and must go out.

Mr. Williams closed his paper with that a lady was sick and must go out, (not a strange circumstance in a close and crowded room.) She then, after this most reasonable explanation, in a bitter, withering manner said: "I am bitter, withering manner said: "I am about closing, and do not wish to have my concluding remarks interrupted by you," with a peculiar emphasis on the 'you.' Not only were her concluding remarks lost upon the audience, but the impression made by all that she had previously said was greatly im

This rapid advance in gold, with the prevailing feeling that it is likely to rise still higher, has aliarmed some persons, who suppose that it is an indication of a further depreciation of our currency and of a general rise in prices.

In point of fact, however, prices in general have not risen with gold. Wheat, rye, Indian corn, lard, cotton, flour, and many other articles of necessity, are materially lower now than they were on the 6th of March, when gold was lowest. The rise of nearly one-half in the gold premium since that time has not affected them at all; or, if at all, it has made them cheaper. The fact can be accounted for only in one way. Gold is an exception to the general markets for commedities; it has long been artificially depressed, by a variety of influences, the most important of which is the export of bonds. The advance in the premium is simply a return towards the natural price of the depression of the general markets for commedities; it has long the natural price of the streams. There is no reason to doubt, therefore, that a very large advance in gold might take place without any injury to fixed incomes or to wages at the present rates. If the rise should become so great as to indicate a real distrust of the currency, an apprehension that the kovernment cannot be trusted, there will then be ground for alarm on this

DELAWARE, still sublimely indiffer-ent to the reproachful gaze of the na-tion, again bowed down before her tion, again bowed down before her sbrine on Saturday. A man who was convicted of an attempt to commit an outrageous offense against humanity and decency, but who was, neverthe-less, acknowledged to be of weak mind, explated his transgression by standing one hour in the pillory, and receiving thirty lashes upon his bare back, in addition to an imprisonment of two addition to an imprisonment of two years and the payment of a fine of $500. Confinement in a lunatic asylum would unquestionably be the proper disposition of his case; but Delaware is nothing if not economical, and hence lets the culprit off with a comparatively trifling term of imprisonment, just about long enough in duration to run up an expense equal to the amount of his fine.

Good conduct at Sunday-school Good conduct at Sunday-school seems to be differently rewarded in different localities. In a certain Episcopal church in San Francisco, for instance, each scholar that is in his place before opening school receives a ticket for punctuality. Our correspondent having, as was his habit, come early to school one Sunday, observed a class of six or seven boys, aged from early to school one Sunday, observed a class of six or seven boys, aged from seven to twelve years, all of respectable parentage, throwing dice for who should win the whole lot of punctuality tickets. He stood aghast at such deprayity, in such a place, on such a day—especially when one urchin roared out: 'Sixes! I've won; give us the pool!'

MESSRS. JOHN DARBY & Co., 161 William St., N. Y.

GENTS:—I have received so much benefit from "Darby's Prophylactic Fluid," that I feel it my duty to let you know it. I had an attack of Typhold Fever, and with it a most stubborn case of Erysipelas, and was confined to my bed near two months, suffering the most intense pain all the time from Erysipelas, and after exhausting the many prescriptions of my physician, he finally commenced the use of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid, and soon found that I was being improved by its use, and continued to use it, and am nearly well. I consider it the most valuable medicine for the diseases and purposes for which it is made that is sold. I also used it most successfully on my little son who was severely burnt, and I do assure you that it was from this medicine alone that I could get any relief from my distressing attack of Erysipelas.

I do not write you this as a certificate for publication, but as a duty that I feel I owe to Prof. Darby and his invaluable medicine. I shall never be without it again if I can by any possible means get it.

1 hope you are succeeding, and will make a fortune.

Very truly yours.
